Strong Neighborhoods: From the Ground Up

Dealing with our City's aging infrastructure isn't an easy job. As a responsible City, our goal is to preempt any failure in our existing systems, but we are of course, always responding to emergency breaks and deterioration, too. The age and older design of our systems need repair, and sometimes full replacement. Combined with our City's rapid development and new construction, this means problems are constantly coming to light. That is true for water, sewer and stormwater lines as they reach close to a century in age. Those are the "invisible problems," that are often overlooked as we notice and ask for upgrades to streets, sidewalks, gutters and street lights. That's a lot of infrastructure!

We can't solve a problem unless we talk about it. I'd like to take a moment to explain more about the state of our infrastructure. And I want to share how it involves you and the actions you can take every day.

Turning on the tap or flushing the toilet many times a day is something we take for granted, it's not until something backs up, floods, or doesn't flow that it really gets our attention. In the 1930s, our city was founded with the purpose of building a sewer and those original pipes were made of cast clad iron. Iron, while state of the art then, is known to deteriorate over time causing other issues, such as adding unwanted particulates in the water and frequent leaks and breaks. Sewer systems are also in need of modern pipes to facilitate smooth sailing. And our stormwater system is just a fraction of what it needs to be - it was never designed or built as a complete system because engineering standards varied for the already built areas the city annexed and grew over the years.

WHAT CAN YOU DO?

Treat your underground pipes like you treat the visible parts of your kitchen and bathroom. Keep them clean by only putting essential items down the bathroom drain (the three Ps) and use a strainer in your kitchen to keep food waste out. It is better for your pipes, the water treatment process, and ultimately the earth.

South Salt Lake is becoming more sustainable and environmentally focused. Infrastructure is part of the problem and inevitably the solution. One project that I'm passionate about is protecting our open waters such as the Jordan River and Mill Creek. It is essential that we manage what goes in our stormwater drains to protect what happens downstream.

to announce a great addition for the City to connect with you. We are rolling out a survey tool called FlashVote. It is a quick and easy way for you to weigh in on local topics that matter most and prioritize our competing needs. FlashVote will regularly call for opinions from a pool of residents to get statistically valid input on topics such as infrastructure, parks, conservation, public safety and more. Its success depends on participation from a wide variety of individuals representing the diversity of our city. I hope you'll take the opportunity to participate—register at flashvote.com/sslc.

We are investing in infrastructure now more than ever, not just in newly built areas but in our historic neighborhoods, too. We are making upgrades to our sewer system to increase capacity as we grow, with funding from a new Public Improvement District (PID) formed by 11 developers in our downtown. And, our water department is gaining new tools to ramp up their repair and replacement projects. We appreciate the input we have heard from concerned citizens that these are priorities that simply can't wait any longer. We are up for the task!

Strong neighborhoods are the building blocks of a strong community, but they can't be strong without resident involvement. I am thrilled

Safe Passage on Our Sidewalks

Let's keep sidewalks and bike lanes clear for pedestrians and cyclists. This includes tree branches, shrubs, garbage cans, and any piles created for the bulk waste cleanup. It is particularly important at intersections that the "clear view" is kept open—this is an area 30' back from the corner where any obstruction above knee height, including a parked car, makes it difficult for drivers to see someone walking or biking. Safe streets start at home!

Citywide Curbside Cleanup Program

Curbside collection of bulky waste items will take place May 2-12, 2022. Pickup will be provided for approved items that are boxed, bundled or bagged. Your pick-up schedule will be sent in advance. Properly prepared items must be placed curbside by 6:30 a.m. on the scheduled collection day.

CITY COUNCIL CORNER

Good Data Can Bring Great Changes

Portia Milia, District 4

We know that there are many obstacles that can prevent you from sharing your thoughts with elected officials. I appreciate those who attend and regularly voice their opinions at City Council meetings or reach out to us personally. However, in a city with more than 26,000 residents, we are often surprised how few people reach out, even on hot topics that we know mean a lot to you. I think most would agree that a loud minority and a silent majority doesn't equal the best representation of our diverse community. I do believe that many more of you actually would like to share more, but because of your busy lives and schedules or wishing to remain anonymous, remain silent.

For the past year the Council, along with our Mayor and staff members, has been expanding and providing a more equitable means of gathering information from a larger pool of our constituents. Our community outreach staff and different city departments provided advice and helped us think through what we were missing. We are pleased to launch —FlashVote.

FlashVote is a simple and quick survey tool to find out what residents want, and help us make the best decisions based on statistically valid input. The surveys are five questions or less and take no more than one to two minutes to complete. They will cover a wide range of topics such as budget items, or evaluating new amenities, and platforms.

The surveys are given to a pool of residents who reflect the diversity of the city - age, ethnicity, gender, location of residence, and so on. Results will also be quickly shared with the survey participant, city and our council to get an accurate representation of opinions. When residents sign up, they then can determine how surveys are received—whether by email, text, or phone call. Notifications will be received whenever there is a new survey, and you will have 48 hours before voting closes.

I am personally very excited to take this step and even more excited to see the results. I hope you join me!

Love that Garden!

Gardening is one of the best ways to gain a greener heart (and a green thumb). The benefits of being outdoors, digging in the dirt, and eating the fruits of your labor are both personal and community-wide. Here are a few quick tips from Giles Larsen, the program manager for the community garden going in at Fitts Park this Spring. To apply for a garden plot, visit wasatchgardens.org.

1. Don't dig when wet. Hold off on tilling or digging your yard or garden plot until the soil is relatively dry. Healthy and porous soil aggregates are destroyed when excessively wet soil is compacted or broken up, and this can reduce its productivity for years to come. You can test this by rolling some soil in a ball and pressing it with your thumb. If the soil loosely crumbles, it's ready to work. If it does not, it is too wet, so hold off a bit longer.

2. Know your soil needs. The first step is to get a soil test; most Utah soils have high levels of phosphorus and potassium. Use fertilizers that mostly provide nitrogen. If your soil contains less than 5% organic matter, compost is a great option. Compost does more than just fertilize, it changes your soil texture to hold more water and air.

3. Mulch it up! Conserve water during the summer and suppress weeds by adding a layer of top mulch (at least 2") around your plants. Straw, leaves, compost, or wood chips all work well, but straw often contains seeds that will sprout. Areas around trees love to be mulched too!

Civilian Review Board Established

Message from SSLPD Chief Jack Carruth

The civilian review board has oversight that is tasked with reviewing and providing recommendations for improving processes. This concept is to help build community trust, foster communication, and build rapport. For further details refer to City Ordinance 2022-02.

South Salt Lake City leaders delivered on a commitment to add transparency and accountability of the South Salt Lake Police Department with the adoption of advice and consent for members of a new independent Civilian Review Board (CRB). The CRB is made up of seven Members, two Alternate Members, and one non-voting Advisory Member.

The SSLC Civilian Review Board (CRB) has been established and has conducted a few meetings. You can review the minutes by going to SSLC.gov. The CRB meets the first Monday of every month at 6:30 p.m. The meetings are held at the City Council Chambers at City Hall 220 East Morris Ave.

I appreciate the selection committee taking the time to select the following board members.

Civilian Review Board Members

Original Hose Cart Gets a Facelift

Message from SSLFD Chief Terry Addison

In the 1800s when pressurized water systems began to make their mark in communities, hose carts became the frontline firefighting tool. When a fire alarm came in 5 to 10 volunteer firefighters would gather at the fire station and pull the cart by hand to the fire. The firefighters would deploy the hose to a fire hydrant and then stretch a hose to the fire for extinguishment.

The hose cart has been on display at station 41 for more than thirty years. During that time the weather had definitely left its mark and the cart needed a facelift.

The idea to refurbish this treasure was brought to Chief Addison for discussion. The decision was made to move forward with this project. The person we leaned on the most during this refurbishment was Joaquin Garcia. He took this project and made all the decisions, scheduled work, and repaired many sections on his own.

On April 7, 2022, Station 41 received its refurbished hose cart. It is currently on display at 2600 South Main Street, Station 41. The SSLFD will hold a re-dedication of the hose cart on May 27, 2022, at 12 p.m., all are welcome.

2022 STATE OF THE CITY AWARDS

Now we get to our favorite part of State of the City – recognizing the incredible people who make SSL truly a community. This isn't even the beginning of all of those who were recognized at this year's State of the City. To find the complete list of those honored, visit ssl.gov.

CITIZEN OF THE YEAR —Doug Moffat

This Citizen of the Year is passionate about his family - he is a husband, father, and grandfather first. Doug and his wife Diane have been residents on Wandamere Ave for nearly 41 years. He served on the City Council from 1992 to 2004, where he was known for an even temperament and ability to look at issues from all sides. Doug has a great love for music and has played lead guitar in the band 'Crash Pontiac & The Hubcaps', featuring cover music from the 50-60s. For more than three decades, every holiday season, he pours his heart into a merry and bright train display—making it a point to invite others to enjoy and celebrate this tradition.

VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR —Rick Birrell

South Salt Lake Fire's Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) was developed out of the need for a well-trained civilian emergency workforce. These multifunctional response teams act as an adjunct to the city's emergency services during major disasters. Resident Rick Birrell provides a wealth of knowledge as a longtime CERT member. He is also a member of the South Salt Lake Amateur Radio Team (SSLART), which supports the city by providing communications during emergencies and public service events.

COMMUNITY BUILDER

Tom and Marsha Lowe Family

Central Park Community Center Resource Pantry

Tom and Marsha Lowe and their family recently exceeded the giving model in a big way. Mark Lowe, a prior Promise SSL employee, was quick to note the need in our community when his family was looking for ways to give back. He pitched the idea of a food pantry at the Central Park Community Center. We now have the Community Resource Pantry model at Central Park, where not only food fills the shelves but also basic needs and household items. The Lowe family continues to make monthly donations to keep the pantry stocked, while other partners and community members have contributed too!

MAYOR'S SPIRIT OF COMMUNITY

Christie Patton

Our Finance Department is known for customer service, and with almost 23 years of service to the City and its residents, Christie Patton is known for her caring demeanor. Many residents know her by name. Beyond that, she has two great passions: Robert Redford and Road Trips!

YOUTH NEIGHBORHOOD AMBASSADOR

Sydney Thornton

"Dear Mayor, We need some improvement in our neighborhood," was the opening sentence of a recent correspondence from a nine-year-old resident, Sydney Thornton. In the letter, she reported that the lack of street lighting, stop signs, and other issues on her street contribute to ongoing safety concerns, including theft and speeding. From this single letter came collaborative responses, which will lead to real and meaningful change in her neighborhood. Thank you to this young resident for reminding us how to engage civically and seek solutions.

LEGACY FAMILY OF THE YEAR —The Farnsworth Family

If you've lived in SSL for any length of time, you've heard of the Farnsworths. These Haven Avenue residents have long been known for their commitment to service. Bonnie served on the City Council from 1978 to 1992 as the first-female City Councilwoman. In addition, she has worked for a local legacy business, American Funds and Trusts. Eldon Farnsworth, Sr. served the City for eight years, from 1986 to 1994. First as City Recorder and then as Mayor from 1992 to 1994.

Their son Eldon Farnsworth, Jr., worked for the SSL Fire Department, retiring as a Fire Battalion Chief after 36 years of service. Because of their devoted service to our community, the Farnsworth Family has been chosen as this year's Legacy Family!

TAKERONE

@takeronegraffiti | Budapest, Hungary

TakerOne got his start in 2001, after a few years of classical graffiti and tagging, TakerOne shifted his focus to painting legally—and without any formal art degree, is completely self-taught. From the beginning, his hope was to surpass the idea of simply seeing a mural as decor but to have a much bigger “WOW!” impact on his audience. Taking a glance at his mural portfolio, you’ll most likely agree. Anyone who makes a cement mixer look like a pinecone is a hit (even better when driving in the woods!). Be it a squirrel, otter, elephant, or fox, the world is a bit happier and more beautiful because of these.

THOMAS TURNER

@thomasturner_tt | Atlanta, GA

Thomas currently lives in Atlanta, GA working as a gallery artist and freelance designer. His art stems from a root system that intertwines nature, animals, humans, and in particular cases, the inanimate.

When the source of nectar for a hummingbird is directly charged by the moon, the concept behind his 185 ft mural, “Naturally Charged.” Are those horns on that magnificent buffalo? Oh, wait, those are tree branches! And, what lies on the other side of the moon of “THE ANEMOI” mural in Chicago is a group of ominous mythical creatures and a fierce blue-eyed lion that we can hope not to bump into any time soon.

WES ABARCA “WES77”

@wes7svn | Vernal, UT

Originally from Southern CA, Wes Abarca began as a freelance artist in 1996 and began his own mural business in 2020, Genesis Mural Co. Wes creates vibrant and colorful murals, pieced together much like mosaic tiles or stained glass. Wildlife is definitely his theme of choice as his work includes various mosaic-style animal art, like the ram, wild horse or elk featured together in a mural at an infinite loop skate park in Nevada. His move to Vernal, UT may explain the Stegarsaurus mural found on a local Airbnb shed. To add, birds are in essence modern-day dinosaurs, Wes’ extensive mural portfolio includes quite a menagerie—including a soaring eagle, a quail, and a colorful peacock.

Gerry Swanson

@SilentSwanArt | West Jordan, UT

Who better to oppose in a kangaroo boxing ring? An octopus obviously—boxing gloves included. As a local freelance artist, with several outdoor and indoor murals around Salt Lake (Purgatory, Higher Ground Coffee, Lake Effect, Garage on Beck...), chances are you’ve seen at least a few from Gerry Swanson. He started back in 2006 after graduating with a B.A. in Fine Arts from Lewis and Clark College in Portland, OR. In his words, “I pride myself on my ability to communicate clearly and my adaptability to my client’s critique, while at the same time, honoring my artistic style.” We suppose that may be the case that while the mural of Sasquatch on Big O Tires at 3300 South, went with a darker theme, the lighter side also shines through, as it is a bit reminiscent of Harry, from the 80’s classic, “Harry and the Hendersons”.

Xeriscape vs Zeroscape - What's the difference?

South Salt Lake City requires a minimum of 50% live plant material in your front yard. People often mispronounce the term "xeriscape," and they often misunderstand what it really means. Xeri means dry, it doesn't mean zero or no live plants or grasses. Living in a high desert ecosystem, drought-resistant plants thrive here. Our native landscape is both beautiful and abundantly filled with plants!

The city enforces landscape ordinances that require plants and prohibit weeds. There is no "zero care" option. But there are a lot of more fun, sometimes free options if you are resourceful with plant swapping and dividing, composting and finding free bark chips.

For tips on how to xeriscape and fight weeds, the Conservation Garden Park is a great resource. Check it out at conservationgardenpark.org. For more answers about landscaping in South Salt Lake, contact our Neighborhoods Ambassador at 801-464-6757 or connect@sslc.gov.

Zeroscape Landscapes that are largely rock don't have those benefits or the beauty we are trying to cultivate in our neighborhoods. They also often turn into weed patches as the rocks catch flying dirt and dust as well as seeds.

Xeriscape is a great way to reduce your water bill, but it isn't a void. It includes a healthy dose of plants. Plants keep the ground cool, the natural insects and soil microbes alive, and absorb the rain runoff when it does fall.
