What's Up in Your Neighborhood?

You Have More Influence than You Think

In May, the public was invited to speak up and share their perspectives, ideas and concerns at General Plan Neighborhood Discussions. I was there listening, along with the City Council and city staff. The conversations centered around the future of transportation, housing, economic development and our environment. I went into the meetings having received a lot of feedback from the surveys but was still enlightened as residents made some great points.

The passion for these issues surprised me a little and recommitted me to focus on things that make a difference in our neighborhoods. I can see the shift in resident's concerns from basic safety and well-being into enthusiasm for shaping a more comfortable and lively community for our diverse population. It seems South Salt Lake is perfectly positioned to be the place people want to live and work, and there are many ways that our housing and businesses are shaping neighborhoods that so many want to be in. We still have work to do, in making safer streets, more places to be outdoors, and attractive places to shop, play and meet our neighbors. I am more optimistic than ever, and know we will create a plan that will really make a difference in people's lives.

Over the last several months, we've reached out to you in order to craft the city's guiding General Plan that will shape how we grow and how our community evolves. The General Plan team has made every effort to meet people where they are - literally and figuratively - attending community events and meetings, reaching out to parents and program participants and contacting residents by mail, email, social media and this newsletter. They also love working with youth and frequently engage with our Youth City Council, Best Buy Teen Tech Center and Promise SSL teens. They made a special effort to reach seniors and to communicate in a variety of languages, too. So don't miss your chance — take a look at SSLOurNextMove.org to see the draft of the final plan and comment as it will be presented to the City Council for approval this summer.

Of course, I always encourage residents and businesses to simply reach out to me — I take your comments to heart and always am eager to get to know your needs. Your willingness to do so makes the South Salt Lake community one that we can really be proud of.

Mural Fest 2021 Artists Make Their Mark Around the City, Including City Hall

The big highlight of May for South Salt Lake was indeed our 4th annual Mural Fest. On Saturday, May 15th ten new artists shared their work at a 'Meet and Greet' event. The City Hall mural was created by a local lettering artist, Hayley Barry, to the south of the building (and visible from I-80!). Thanks to Hayley (and the SSL Arts Council) we have a colorful mural to better mark our destination as a City on the MOVE!

New Resident CORNER

Is the City adding glass or green waste recycling programs?

The city is looking to up our recycling game, adding glass recycling to the lineup and are looking to see if green waste containers are feasible. There are many questions to answer, including where recycled materials go, and if there are enough residents willing to participate.

Tell us more about your recycling needs by taking the Residential Recycling Survey at sslc.com.

CITY COUNCIL CORNER

Historic Scott School to be New Home for SSL Arts Council and Arts Programs

By Portia Mila, District 4

In May, the City served an eviction notice to Pioneer Craft House to vacate the space they occupied at Historic Scott School Arts & Community Center so we could fully utilize the building for our residents. As a City Council, our job is to provide quality and affordable services to our residents and we always wished to offer arts opportunities for all residents, and unfortunately, Pioneer Craft House was not willing to partner in a way that could accomplish this. We have an obligation to our taxpayers to use our resources wisely, and this was the right step to better serve our community. I expressed my support at the City Council meeting on May 12th.

So what is next? Our city is excited to create an arts hub and to make it the new home of our South Salt Lake Arts Council. We have really come into our own as "the place" for arts, culture and creativity. This also supports our vision of making the corner of 3300 South and 500 East a cultural destination. This has been our intent since we first set our sights on the old Granite High property. Now with the new County Library nearing completion and the Historic Scott School fully in our control, we are ready. We are excited for the next chapter of this local landmark and I encourage you to reach out with your thoughts and ideas.

CITY OF SOUTH SALT LAKE NOTICE OF MUNICIPAL ELECTION

Municipal General Election is on November 2, 2021, to elect the following 4-year terms:

- Mayor
- City Council Member District 2
- City Council Member District 3
- City Council Member District At-Large

TO QUALIFY AS A CANDIDATE A PERSON MUST BE:

1. A United States citizen at the time of filing
2. A legal resident of South Salt Lake for 12 consecutive months immediately preceding the date of the election
3. A registered voter of the municipality
4. A resident of the council district you are filing for
5. Pay the $25 filing fee

The City Council has elected to use the Ranked Choice Voting method without a Primary Election.

The candidate filing period is Tuesday, August 10, 2021 through Tuesday, August 17, 2021, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The candidate filing deadline is Tuesday, August 17, 2021 at 5:00 p.m.

Declaration of Candidacy Forms or Nomination Petitions must be filed in person with the City Recorder's Office at 220 East Morris Avenue, Suite 200, South Salt Lake, Utah, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. unless individuals are subject to Section 20A-9-203(3)(b) of the Utah Code.

If you have questions contact the City Recorder's office at 801-483-6027 or 801-483-6019.

Does the City have any control of the crosswalks on State Street?

South Salt Lake coordinates with the Utah Department of Transportation (UDOT) on safety on state highways (including State Street). In recent years, this has resulted in new crosswalks at the S-Line, Gregson Ave, and Sunset Ave. The public has proposed other good locations and discussed safety at length in the ongoing Life on State project. Your comments are always welcome and can be directed to our City Engineer, Mayor Wood and the City Council.

Driving Safety Involves Everyone

Message from SSL Police Chief Jack Carruth

In May, I listened to the General Plan neighborhood discussions with the City Council and Mayor Wood. Many residents brought up concerns about happenings in their neighborhoods with speeding, traffic, crosswalks and bicycle safety. Maintaining the public safety of our streets is a part of our duties, and always a priority. I was intrigued by just how big a priority this has become to many residents.

This past year, the SSLPD has worked with our city's traffic engineers to conduct traffic flow and speed studies in South Salt Lake. What we are finding out from these studies, is that for the most part, the majority of community members are driving in a safe and responsible manner. When the speed limit was 30 mph, the average speed recorded was 30 mph. We found that only a small percentage (less than 3%) of those driving have enforceable violations. However, those who do speed over the legal limit need to clearly get the message to slow down.

As a department, we support the community by addressing speeding concerns. We do our best to conduct enforcement action in areas where we receive complaints or observe concerns.

With school out for the summer and the warmer weather, crosswalk safety is definitely a growing concern. While it may be tempting to jaywalk, please use crosswalks and marked intersections. During these neighborhood meetings, we also asked for you to mark places where you think new crosswalks or traffic improvements could be made. You can also do so on the Idea Map at SSLOurNextMove.org.

Your input is an important tool in making our city safer. I enjoy getting to know our community members better and want to hear from you. I encourage you to attend our Coffee with a Cop which is held every first Wednesday of the month. Join me this month at the Central Park Pavilion on June 2 at 9:00 am.

An ISO Class 1 Rating Saves Lives and the Taxpayers Money

Message from Fire Chief Terry Addison

Did you know that fire departments are regularly rated? In August of 2020, the SSL Fire Department was evaluated by the ISO (International Standard) using a Public Protection Classification (PPC) survey.

ISO's PPC Program plays an important role in the underwriting process of insurance companies. In fact, most U.S. insurance companies use PPC information when deciding whether or not to insure a business and the cost of insurance rates. Four areas are considered in the grading of the community's fire suppression capabilities: 1. emergency communications, 2. fire department operational considerations, 3. water supply, and 4. community risk reduction and fire prevention programs. I'm excited to report that as of May 1, 2021 we have improved from an ISO Class 3 department to an ISO Class 1 rating, a significant achievement.

ISO has evaluated and classified over 39,000 fire protection areas across the U.S. and less than 1% of all rated communities have received a Class 1 rating. We are the second department in the State of Utah to receive this rating and we are very proud of it. I wish to congratulate our public safety team and thank you for your support. We look forward to providing exceptional service to you, your families, and our business community.

Making South Salt Lake a Place to Call HOME

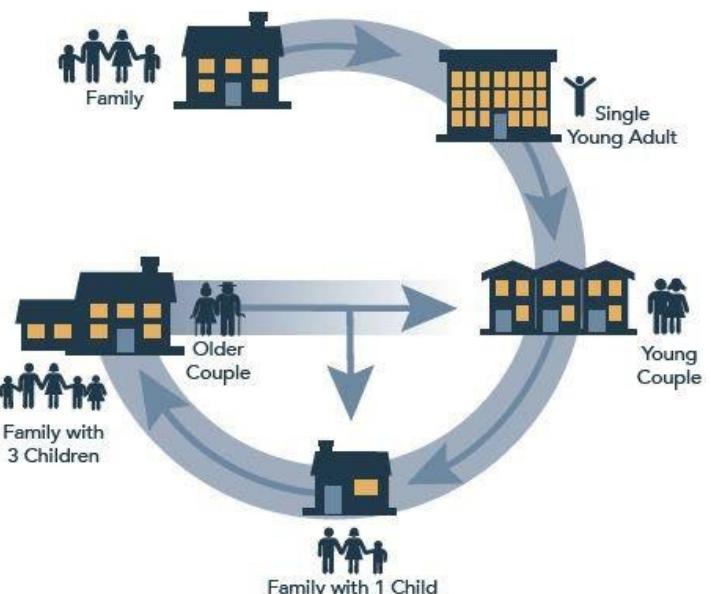

HOW COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PLAYS A ROLE

During the past several months the Community Development Department has been holding community meetings to hear from residents and stakeholders to decide "Our Next Move" with the adoption of a new General Plan. As we have listened, one message we have heard loudly is that many people want to encourage the development of housing opportunities for anyone who would like to call South Salt Lake City their home.

In order to make housing available to all, it helps to understand the different types of housing that residents may want to choose to live in. This graphic shows the traditional cycle of how housing needs may change throughout the average lifetime. (source: www.ci.creswell.or.us)

When it comes to new housing development, what is actually built is controlled by Developers and not by the City, however there are a few things that we can influence. As an example in SSL, we are seeing new examples of each of the housing types that are needed to ensure a complete community. South Salt Lake is built-out, meaning land is no longer available within the City on "greenfields" or for outward expansion. Instead, we are seeing all kinds of property - industrial, commercial, former schools — redeveloping into housing. The General Plan will outline strategies to protect existing residential, while encouraging new development in appropriate areas. As land and development prices rise, new development will more often than not, feature taller, denser development. Moving forward we may see fewer single family home developments such as the Riverfront area, and more multi-family apartment or townhome styles near TRAX and in our Downtown as we seek to provide a balanced mix of housing for the community.

HOUSING LIFE CYCLE

Your Community Development Department is updating our General Plan and subsequently the Zoning Ordinance to provide opportunities for all necessary types of housing to be found in SSL. To learn more and add your own ideas, please visit, SSLOurNextMove.org

Mark Your Water PRIORITIES

When water shortages loom where do you start? From the top, trees come first, then shrubs and perennials, then annuals and then turf.

Your first priorities are with watering trees, garden beds and transplants are critical to keep them alive, but hold off on turf grass, native areas and non-essential landscaping for as long as possible. Want to go even further? Consider replacing turf and updating your plumbing for added water savings.

MURAL FEST 2021: 10 New Murals in SSL

4 YEARS IN THE MAKING, 35 MURALS AND COUNTING!

Mural Fest 2021 was a huge hit! In its 4th year, the event was perhaps even sweeter, due to a year of confinement and last year's main event being cancelled. The Meet and Greet on May 15th was not only well attended, the weather, entertainment, food trucks and entire scene was nothing short of magical. You can enjoy the incredible art by downloading the Map and visiting the 10 new murals, in South Salt Lake's Creative Industries Zone.

Our highest thanks to Lesly Allen, SSL Arts Council Director, the many staff and volunteers, building owners, and of course, to the coolest group of mural artists ever assembled. Lastly, thank you to the Utah Division of Arts & Museums, Salt Lake County ZAP, Rocky Mountain Power, Utah Arts Alliance and the City of South Salt Lake for investing in public art!

Have a photo from Mural Fest that you'd like to share?

Follow Mural Fest on either Instagram @themuralfest or on Facebook, or email to connect@sslc.com.

HAYLEY BARRY

South Salt Lake City Hall
173 Oakland Ave

We LOVE this new view and can admire it from our City Hall offices! Hayley is an exceptional lettering artist with a lot of spunk. The days were long and warm for her, wearing her pearl earrings and denim overalls, she enjoyed visits from the community and City staff. Hayley's incredible "City on the Move" mural can be found on the north-facing block wall and seen from eastbound I-80.

BILL LOUIS

Clever Octopus
2250 S West Temple

Bill Louis enjoyed working during the evening hours—the umbrella on the lift helped during daytime hours, but it was still hot! The Plumeria flowers symbolize for Pacific Islanders honoring those who have been lost, seen here they honor those that lost their lives to COVID. Bill's next mural is in Rose Park to honor the life of local Pacific Islander and social activist Margarita Santini, who passed in 2020.

EMILY DING

Electrical Marketing Solutions
2138 S West Temple

Emily Ding, muralist of this Utah red-rock scene chose mountain lions as they are an indigenous species. Emily included Yucca blossoms and desert globe mallow in front of a native landscape. She often asked, "Do these rocks look like what you find in Utah?" Because being from Houston, TX, she hasn't visited places like Moab, Zions or Goblin Valley—yet.

MILES TOLAND

Technical Service Supply
2465 S West Temple

Miles Toland hails from Nevada City, CA. With the layers of spray paint and detail brush work, the preparations and thought behind it shine through. What is a dodecahedron? In geometry, a dodecahedron is any polyhedron with twelve flat faces. It could also be interpreted as the space we create between ourselves our "knowing" and the "ethers" or clouds, ya dig?

HIMED AND HOKZYN

Ta'Contento
2280 S West Temple

This team came all the way from Mexico and had to adapt to a new space, and other hiccups. You can view their beautiful new mural, "Esa Luz" (That Light) at the former Vertical Diner locale, soon to be Ta'Contento on West Temple.

GEORGE F. BAKER III

Team Thirteen
131 W 2100 South

Yo, South Salt Lake! The voices are popping through in living color on the wall by muralist George Baker visiting Utah for the first, but hopefully not the last time. Check it out at the Team Thirteen building on 2100 South. If you get a chance, visit Team Thirteen's instagram page (@teamthirteen) to watch the amazing drone footage. Who here remembers the Casio watch??

BROOKLYN OTTENS AND MATT MONSOON

Bonwood Bowl
43 W Oakland Ave

With their ginormous, colorful jellyfish and solar rays, their mural can be found on the north wall of Bonwood Bowl. Brooklyn and Matt worked several evenings, using flood lamps while companion dog, Bear, watched close by.

ROOTS ART KOLLECTIVE (THE RAK)

Miguel Galaz, Luis Nova, Alan Ochoa
Mr. Muffler
105 W 2100 South

The mission of The RAK is to expand public art to create a vibrant environment that allows people to learn about the cultures that enrich our communities. For this piece, they asked their followers to contribute by suggesting words and phrases that fit the theme of healing and coping with the struggles and isolation from the past year. The phrase they chose around the sun mandala? "SANACIÓN A MADRE TIERRA" or "HEALING OF MOTHER EARTH"

JOSEPH TONEY

Allergy Research Group
2301 S West Temple

Joseph Toney, local muralist is originally from Boone, NC. A time or so ago he held a sweet position as a designer/artist for the ski industry, but had a desire for something different and made the switch as a full time artist. Joseph, we're so glad you did! Thus the mural, and three spectacular Japanese Red Crowned Cranes.

TRACI O'VERY COVEY

Mountain Land Design
24 E Burton Ave

A very warm welcome to returning local artist, Traci O'Very Covey who completed phase III of her mural 'Habitat' along the south wall of the Mountain Land Design building off Main St. We'd also like to welcome Burton the cat, who appears on this mural, and joined our South Salt Lake family this year!

WHAT'S UP IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD?

Q What can the City do to make 3300 South safer for pedestrians and bicyclists?

3300 South is often perceived as unsafe or uncomfortable. It is difficult because of the I-15 interchange, high traffic volumes, a large number of trucks, and the UTA TRAX crossing. Still, improvements have been made in recent years, including the Mill Creek Trail on the north side. As a state highway, managed by UDOT, the City has to make requests and work together with them on road improvements, repairs, and safety enhancements to better serve our community. Projects often receive federal funding because they are too costly for the city to afford. Road projects can be, complex and take time, but we are jointly committed to continual improvement.

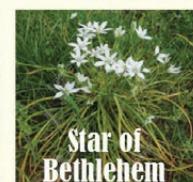

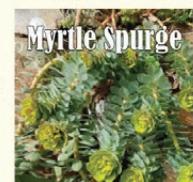

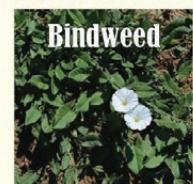

We recommend that residents share their ideas with all agencies (including UDOT). South Salt Lake is currently starting a 3300 South project jointly with Millcreek City (watch for more info on sslc.com). UDOT has a mapping tool where you can leave comments and requests, too: www.udot.utah.gov

WANTED DEAD ! 5 FUGITIVE WEEDS

Help catch and stop these weeds from attacking!

Have you been gardening more this year? If so, you have probably noticed some plants you may have not paid attention to before, and they may not be as friendly as they appear. These "Most Wanted" are some of the most common weeds people find and ask about. Everyone knows that dandelions spread, but did you know that these are a problem, too?

Plants are known to travel from place to place, by seed, underground runners or bulbs. Often, these unwanted "fugitives" are not noticed until they become a major pain to remove.

Star of Bethlehem

Weeds can overtake the turf and plants you do want, and often end up crowding out the native plants that support wildlife in our natural areas, such as Mill Creek and the Jordan River. Our county and state have weed abatement programs to prevent their spread and damage, and our city code enforcement department enforces city rules to help.

For more information on the city weed code, visit Urban Livability at sslc.com
